SUBJECT 2022-2023 Operating Budget

DATE: June 14, 2022

Fiscal Year 2022-23 holds within the projections of a continuation to pre-pandemic operations. Forecasts are a bit more robust than presented last year, due in no small part to the uncertainty at the time when the budget was crafted. The upcoming year shows growth in the budget, with once again the noted impacts of HEERF III funding upon the schedule.

As of this writing, final determination of performance-based funding has yet to be determined, thus there will be some variation in our final appropriation compared to what is contained herein. However, it should not be significant. CARES related revenues and expenditures will be reflected originally within contracts and grants, but we may later move the revenues into the appropriate fund as lost revenue is replaced. Summaries of the major fund types follow:

General Revenue and Lottery: The combined total of general revenue and lottery for FY 2022-23 is $118,749,292 or approximately increase of $7.3 million over the previous year. The growth stems from funding for the expansion of nursing and operational support. Highlights of the use of the new funding are as follows:

- Investment in the Water School
- Nursing expansion as directed in the allocation
- Faculty promotional costs including raising instructor minimum salary
- Plant operations funding for Lucas Hall and The Water building in addition to funding for inflationary pressure on utilities
- Technology support, as notable increases have resulted from the infrastructure required for remote capabilities in a secure fashion
- Securing funding for cluster hires in Academic Affairs

As for expenditures, the increases are reflective mostly in salary and expenses. It is fair to note that we prepare salaries with no adjustments for vacancies, understanding that will lead to shifts in expenditures downstream. In regards to general expense, the bulk is driven by the plant and technology issues referenced.

Tuition and Fees: Tuition and fees are estimated at $65,994,215 or an increase of approximately $3.2 million over the previous year. This forecast reflects the continued growth in enrollment and the acknowledgment of out of state fees realized in the prior year. It is fair to point out that this projection is intentionally conservative so that we do not budget above our revenues and provide a margin of error. This funding will support retention and salary initiatives.

Student Activity: The revenue is estimated at $4,651,507 or an increase of less than $50,000 over the previous year. The Student Government (SG) at this time projects to spend approximately $220,000 more than anticipated revenues. This is not haphazard, and the decision has been made by SG to utilize some of the fund balance that has accumulated over the years. SG has a long history of conservative allocations, and with the accumulated funds these expenditures are easily supported.

Concessions: Concession revenues are forecast at $434,500 or $34,500 over prior year budget. The increase over the prior budget is reflective of a campus that will have more students physically on campus than the prior year.

Athletic Revenue: Athletics projects to earn $13,353,680 in FY 2022-23, which is an increase of $1.1 million over the prior year budget. The forecast included increased ticket revenue as attendance will not be limited, payments from the conference returning to normal levels and an increase in private funding support. Conversely, travel and recruiting will increase due to the normalization of operations and the inflation rate impacting team travel. Salary costs have also risen which is driven by the hiring and retention of coaches.

Financial Aid Revenue: Financial Aid Revenue is projected at $33,996,104 which is an approximate increase of $100,000 over the prior year budget. The amount of aid packaged every year is contingent on applications received, funds available, and the number of qualifying students. An increase in the amount of aid provided via fund raising is reflected in this increase.

Grant Associated Revenue: Grants will see the largest change of any fund over the prior year, as the bulk of HEERF funding has been realized, there will be less associated revenue and expenses from the federal aid. Outside of that issue, we anticipate increased activity due to an increase in grants and awards.

Auxiliary Revenue: Auxiliary Revenue is forecasted at $49,202,356 or approximately $2.2 million over the prior year. As previously mentioned, the prior year budget held within a more modest expectation. The budget for this year recognizes student housing at capacity, the potential for additional camps and events hosted on campus, and an overall return to prior year practices and performance.
